Tribal Spotlight

Many Native American tribes used various plants for healing and cleansing the body. One of the various plants used was coffee. This was not a native plant to the Quapaw people. It was introduced to the tribe by Europeans.

The word Ma-Kó-Sha translates to dark medicine. In our language if there was not a word for a specific thing, we used words to describe what it did. In this case, because it was not native to where we lived, we described what it looked like and how it affected the body. It helped keep us alert as well as a cleanser of the body.

When Downstream added the new edition, it was suggested to incorporate a coffee shop. We all need a "pick me up" in the morning! Just like there are various uses for coffee, we offer a variety of choices for our guests. Please come and enjoy some Ma-Kó-Sha with the O-Gah-Pah people.

SEPTEMBER 2019 SPECIAL

HONEY GLAZED
Marshmallows

Née SPA

Honey Marshmallow Pedicure - 50 Minutes - $50
A relaxing and refreshing foot soak softens feet before a honey scented sea salt scrub polishes away all your rough areas. You'll be glazed in an intense moisture serum, rich with honey, aloe, vitamin E and live fruit cells - then cocooned to allow the treatment mask to work its magic - helping to alleviate parched skin and dry, cracked heels. A soothing mango butter massage with a scrumptious hint of bilow marshmallow scent ends this sweet retreat.
Add an ultra-moisturizing and nourishing paraffin treatment for feet or hands to your pedicure service for only $15! (Valued at $25)

Relaxation Massage with Honey Glazed Foot Treatment - 60 Minutes - $99
Feel your tension melt away as your therapist relaxes your mind and body with this aromatherapy infused massage service. Soles will be soft and hydrated as this sweet retreat continues with a Honey Heel Glaze foot treatment. An intensely moisturizing serum is applied to feet and legs before they are wrapped in a warm towel, allowing the glaze to penetrate deep into the skin. This luscious service will leave you feeling refreshed and renewed.

Treat yourself at home with Farmhouse Fresh's delicious bath and body products for 10% off during the month of September.
